existential

Design is an activity for realizing desire or intention in the objective world.
Function is the concept by which we explain the behavior of entities.
When we do design, information flows between the world of knowledge and the real world, and we can obtain a functional space from this flow.

Extra Bold

Knowledge is communicated by building compelling interactions with others or with tools so that the patterns and meanings in that information can be learned by others

Media Design: representing the form of X in an environment in which X thrives.
Technology: (class definition) “things we use within culture to effect ends we want to have made.”
